

SOCIAL NETWORK SURVEY

Now that you have answered questions about yourself, let's look at your social network.

We are now going to ask you to name people in your life. Please only use first names, nicknames, or initials of adults (older than 18). If two people have the same first name, then add a last initial. Please list up to 5 names in the boxes, and more names in the big box after. Don't worry about duplicates OR blanks. We will deal with them later.

Please remember the more careful you are with your answers to the following questions about those in your network, the more you are helping the research.

Now, we are going to create a unique list of names by removing all duplicate names and blanks. Please review the full list of names you provided. Only the first 5 names for each section are shown. If any person appears more than once or there is a blank line, click the REMOVE button next to the name to remove duplicate names or blanks. Otherwise click the KEEP button. Each person should appear only once on the list below. You must provide a choice ("Keep" or "Remove") for every line before moving on. SOCIAL NETWORK SURVEY

We will now focus on the relationship between each pair of people you mentioned. For example, we will ask about $\text{$}\{\text{Unique Name 1}\}$ and $\text{$}\{\text{Unique Name 4}\}$. For each pair, we will ask whether they are total strangers, in-between, or especially close. Here is what we mean by each term:

Total strangers: The two people wouldn't recognize one another if they met on the street.

In-between: Relationships in the middle of total strangers and especially close. Typically, these people are casual acquaintances.

Especially close: As close or closer to each other than they are to you.

Please take your time. This can be difficult.

Excellent – that was tough but you did it! We're now going to ask all the ways each person is connected to you. Some people can be connected to you in more than one way. For example, a man could be your brother and he could belong to your church and be your lawyer. For each person below, please tell us all the ways each person is connected to you.
